Join us for a joint ICSID – UNCITRAL Secretariats presentation of the draft Code of Conduct for investor-State dispute settlement adjudicators. This online presentation will provide an overview of the content of the Code, serving as a basis for comment on it by stakeholders. Written submissions on the Code may be sent to the UNCITRAL Secretariat (uncitral@un.org) and ICSID Secretariat (icsidsecretariat@worldbank.org) on or before October 15, 2020.

The presentation is being held on consecutive days in English (June 29), Spanish (June 30), and French (July 1), and is open to all interested stakeholders.

Registration is required.

Background

The draft Code (available here and here) was developed jointly by the ICSID and UNCITRAL Secretariats in the context of the work of UNCITRAL Working Group III (ISDS reform) and the process underway to amend ICSID's rules of procedure.

The draft provides applicable principles and detailed provisions addressing matters such as independence and impartiality, and the duty to conduct proceedings with integrity, fairness, efficiency and civility. It is based on a comparative review of standards found in codes of conduct in investment treaties, arbitration rules applicable to ISDS, and of international courts.
